Unknown Title

Author: Unknown Channel

hello guys welcome to Amit thinks in this video we will learn how to install the current python version on Windows 11 let's start at first go to the web browser on Google type Python and press enter on pressing enter the official website is visible click on it python.org here is the official website not directly keep the mouse cursor on downloads and the current version 3 13.0 is visible click on it on clicking the download will start it's only 26 MB the download completed exe file right click and click open to begin the installation minimize now the installation setup started first select the use admin privileges and add python.exe to path now we will click custom installation to understand what we are actually installing so here and we'll install P also p is used to download install and manage python packages and libraries we will also install idle idle is an ID to run python programs okay keep them as it is and click next now Advanced options click the first one if you are the admin of the system I'm the admin so I'll select this now rest keep as it is here you can see it will also set python to environment variables and python will get installed here under C program files which is fine click install now the setup will start now the setup is successful click close now let us go to start and verify the installation type CMD click open now type the command python space hyphen hyphen version and press enter so we installed the current python version successfully minimize now let us run our first program go to start type idle I hope you remember that uh we installed idle also open it now let me run my first program I'll just print something using the print method in Python let's say I'll print my name and just press enter and IIT the one will print that means whatever you'll add inside this will get printed this is a basic program you can go to file and also save it save as a in desktop let me name it demo it will automatically add the py extension for python click save now you can see your file saved on the desktop here it is now if you want to Learn Python completely refer the free tutorials in the video description we have added the links for free Python tutorial in English as well as Hindi language thank you for watching the video